

cars, started in business in 1921. When he first entered the garage business he got his Chevrolet cars from the Herman Warner garage in Bonduel. In 1922 he became a district Chevrolet dealer and today is the third oldest dealer in the Janesville zone. In 1934 he became an Oldsmobile dealer, and in 1943 a Case farm machinery dealer.

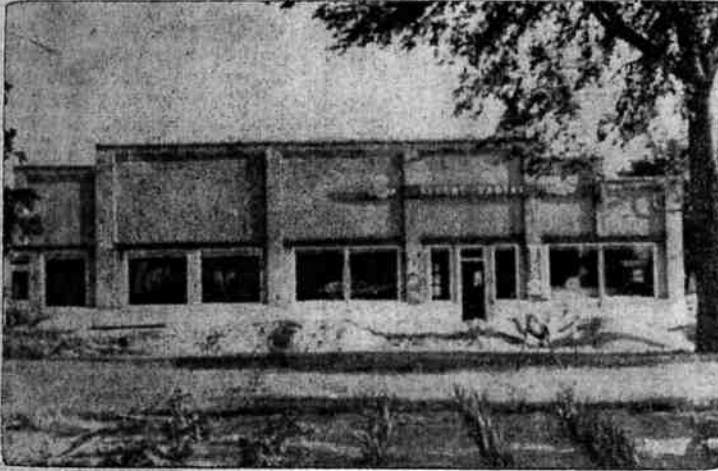

Four men are employed at the garage.

Mr. Radtke is married to Jessie Ryman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morgan of the town of Morgan. They have three sons.

Peter Huston of Cambria invented the folding film roll of the kodak which he sold to George Eastman who developed a gigantic industry from this Wisconsin.
